Whose Husband Is Insane.

A mother and children are in need because the father has become insane. He is now in an asylum and the doctors hold out no hope of his recovery.

The mother's efforts to be independent could not be successful, as there are three children to be fed and elothed, one a cripple. Relatives now give $6 a month, and the church is sending food each week. The mother earns one-half the rent by service as junitor, and to this adds about $5 a week by doing day's work. For the rest of the rent $8 a month is needed.

The Charity Organization Society asks for $94 to meet this for a year to come. Gifts may be sent to the office of the society, 195 East 22d st.

The society acknowledges with thanks the following contributions sent in response to previous appeals in The Tribune: "L. N." $5: "H. S." $2.

LOTS OF FUN PICKING THEM

Little City Chaps Had Time of Their Lives Playing in Harvest Fields.

Who is it everybody turns to smile Europe

Who is it everybody stops to wave

Who is it everybody stops to wave his hand to?

Why, Johnny Fresh Air, when Johnny comes marching home.

He's such a jaunty little chap and so full of smiles himself people smile unconsciously when they see him. And he's so ready with his greeting of "Hello, boss!" as he jogs along that passersely return the salute before they realize what they are doing.

Johnny came marching back to town yesterday three hundred strong. He didn't wear a uniform, but he carried something by way of insignia. It looked like—it was, in fact—an oyster pail, one of those collapsible pasteboard affairs; and he might have filled it at the treasure bunkers of the Kronprinzessin Cecilie, so carefully did he guard it.

"What ye got in the pail, Johnny?"

"What ye got in the pail, Johnny?" shouted one of the watchers of the homecoming.
"Gold!" did he shout in reply? No;
that was the tone, but what he articulated was: ted was:

"What did you do on your vacation?"

"Helped the farmer pitch hay. And. oh, ridin' on it"— Johnny didn't think it worth while to elaborate the exclamation, leaving it to his interrogator to fill out from the smile with which his face lit up at the recollection.

"We milked cows and drank it," he continued after a momentary pause. "And we rode a colt, two little colts. Only ye couldn't stay on 'em long, they wax too lively."

"When the crew learned of the war their future naturally looked black to them. They went about with sad faces. The shrouding of the ship's lights deepened 'the gloom. Even the band deepened the gloom. Even the ship's lights to play some cheerful American tunes. Then they struck up 'The Star Spangled Banner,' and the few Americans on board raised a cheer."

That was about all Johnny had a chance to say in the short march up the street to the subway, for he had to give a good deal of attention to getting over crossings safely, and there was, every here and there, a store window with attractions for his in regard to the proposed sale of that publication.

It was announced recently that the "Century" had been sold to Robert S. Yard, the editor; Robert W. McBride, of McBride, Nast & Co., magazine publishers, and others. The sale was checked, however, by a temporary injunction granted to George H. Hazen by Justice Guy. Mr. Hazen is president of the Crowell Co., publishers of the "American Magazine," and thereby represents sixty shares of stock in the Century Co. He then brought suit to restrain the sale completely on the ground that it was being made by the directors without the consent of the stockholders. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, nead cithe International Woman Suffrage, Alliance, and Miss Mary Garrett Hay, chairman of the Woman Suffrage party, returned yesterday on the Kailert Wilhelm II from a conference of the executive committee of the alliance held recently in London. The conference, she said, made elaborate plans from a varid convention part year in Douglas Z. Doty, secretary of the company, explained the desire of the directors to sell the magazine, retaining for the Century Co. a financial ining for the Century Co. a limit terest, as follows:

"The immediate effect of this im-portant step will be to stop the heavy annual loss incurred by this magazine—a loss which has continued for sever-al years." Mr. Doty, upon advice of his counsel, refused, however, to sign an affidavit concerning these losses.

The affidavit was presented by Mr. McBride through his attorneys, Leary for a world convention next year in Berlin. She expressed some doubts as to whether that convention would take Miss Hay said the Kaiser Wineim II

With her apparent recovery, the President urged that his wife go to a cooler climate, but she steadfastly declined to leave her husband. She took an active interest in the contest over the confirmation of Thomas B. Jones as a member of the Federal Reserve Board, and called for many a document on Congressional affairs.

The relapse came last week, and since then she has been sinking rapidly. Only members of the family are admitted to the sick room. She has lost severely in weight. Yesterday her pulse stopped beating for a few moments. Oxygen and other restoratives were applied. Early to-day she seemed a somewhat better, but late to-day grew worse.

COOL DAYS SAVE BABIES

Death Rate Takes Big Drop Over Last Year's Mark.

There were seventy-two fewer deaths in the week ended August 1 than in the corresponding week last year. The death rate for the first thirty-one weeks of 1914 was 33 per cent lower than that for the corresponding period of 1913.

The most noteworthy feature last week was the decrease in the number of deaths from diarrheal diseases among infants, owing, it is believed, to the cool weather.

EUROPEAN CRISIS HELPS N. Y. HOTELS

War and Coo, Weather Bring Traveilers and Money to This City.

New York hotels are enjoying the busiest summer season within the memories of the oldest proprietors of public hostelries. Cut off from Europe by the war, out-of-town visitors are pouring into the city by every train and coastwise steamer. Hotels usually, slmost vacant at this time are filled with crowds equal to those of midwith crowds equal to those of midwinter.

"People have to go away somewhere."
said a manager of the Hotel McAlpin yesterday, "and as they can't go to Europe they are coming to New York."
One reason for the unusually large number of visitors, another hotel mansaid, was the coolness of the summer.

"The senside resorts may not like by,
but we think it is great," he said.
